

Marlfield House Venue Guide
(Simple Tips To Benefit Your Wedding Photos)

The Print Room is typically used as the bridal suite. These windows make for amazing bridal portraits/ getting ready portraits when hair/makeup is finished. I recommend the window space isn't blocked by your hair/makeup team or it won't be useable for these portraits.

*I recommend your hair/makeup team set up in the dressing room of the Print Room (indicated in photo with ) or use an alternative room of the house if possible.

Have these items ready to photograph: Dress, shoes, flowers, invitations, rings, any other pieces such as jewellery or perfume.

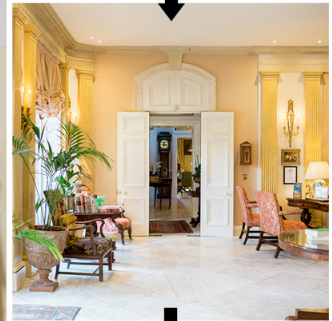

The Sheraton Room is an ideal alternative to use for hair/makeup set up. Let them set up near the big windows for maximum light.

Bridal Prep Photo Tips (The Bridal Suite)

The Stopford Room and the Morland Room are the best bedrooms for groom prep photos.

Other good places for groom prep photos include the main entrance hall and bar.

If you are having an on-site ceremony and your groom isn't getting ready at the house he can still get some groom prep photos once he arrives to the house.

Possible Spaces For Groom Prep

Just out the door of the main bridal suite you can exit right into the garden. This area would make for a great entrance and alternative spot for a ceremony.

On a potentially wet day this sheltered area under the trees is the perfect ceremony spot. It offers shelter from the elements and also a fantastic view of the house. Keep in mind it will be a dark area for photos.

The main entrance hall of Marlfield House will work well for smaller ceremonies if the weather is bad. The Print Room (main bridal suite) is another alternative but it's a much darker room than the entrance hall.

The most obvious ceremony spots are at the back of the house or at the small gazebo just next to the kitchen garden. If facing the house you will be in direct sunlight and if using the gazebo the sunlight will be coming from behind in your photos as seen here.

On-site Ceremonies (Best Locations and Positioning)

If possible opt for a long table in the main part of the conservatory. A long table works so well in this area.

Rain on your wedding day? These are good spots for portraits if it's a bit wet. The Print Room is best for group portraits and just out the door into the garden is a small overhang to shelter from rain.

These spots make a better cake backdrop than against the windows of the main area of the conservatory or in the stairwell. Always try to avoid placing important details in front of a window. These spots offer better light for photos.

Details & Portraits

(Ideal Placement For Small Details & What To Do If It Rains)

Venue Guide designed and written by

BROSAN

PHOTOGRAPHIC

For more info visit www.brosnanphotographic.com or email christina@brosnanphotographic.com